HONGKONG, APRIL 2nd, 1884.

To what crisis the Chinese Government at drifting, and into what difficulties and dis asters they may yet plunge their country, it would be hard to say. The present rulers of Peking are for the most part animated with the same spirit which precipitated the inst war between China and the Allies; the mandarine are equally puffed up with conceit, are just as infatuated in the presence of danger, just as deaf to the voice of reason and remonstrance. They have refused to listen to compromise on the Tonquin question; they have rashly decided to oppose France in that country by force of arms : and they are now announcing Chinese victories where there have practically been no contests, and have been at considerable expense to delude the Chinese people. In this foolish action, however, they have committed themselves to the avowal that Chinese troops were actually in arms fighting against France in Tonquin, a circumstance that the MAP OF TOWN AND ENVIRONS OF SINGAPORE French have evidently not overlooked, as witness their claim for an indemnity. £6,000,000. Careless of the danger impending, however, the sole anxiety of the Peking Government appears to be the sum pression of all information unfavourable by any disease which afflicts the body to the credit of Chinese arms. Most of the which it belongs than is the more fortuofficials are strongly warlike and bitterly antinate colony of Hongkong. French, and the few who are wise enough to discern the dangers ahead incur the severe displeasure of the Empress-Regent and her advisers. Not long ago T'ANG CHUNG, Governor of Yunnan, was degrided on some trifling protext, probably because he had not succeeded-in sweeping the French out of Tonquin and for venturing to predict the of closely printed matter, to which reference is fall of Sontay. It is now reported that Admiral P'ENG YU-LIN is out of favour, perhans for the same reason. The utter failure General Commanding, will take place this mornof the Chinese in Tonquin, even aided by ing between the hours of 9.30 and 12.30. the redoubtable Liu Jung-ru and his Black Flags each of whom is worth ten Frenchmen, according to a veracions Chinese official -to check the advance of the French troops, scapegoats will assuredly be sought on whom shortly from Europe. to impose the blame. Meantime the old game of bluff and brag is being played with a daring and a contempt for facts that would be absolutely startling were not so utterly ludicrous.- The people are being made to pay fresh taxes to provide funds for the purchase and manufacture of arms, for the construction of defensive works, the repair of old forts, and the enlisting of militia, whose pay will slip quietly icto arrear while the mandarins and their been towed in by the new owner, and is now lying underlings pocket the money raised for the to be uninjured; the other one is, of course, rippurpose. The lessors will have to consider their own interests, the question for them being whether they are likely to get the morendyantage by enforcing their strict rights at the moment or by acceding to the petition of the lessees. The circumstances detailed in the petition are however, of great public interest as showing how much more sensitive Shanghai is to a commercial crisis than Hongkong. Here in this colony we have had an inflation in the materially reduced their expenses living, as they are said to have done

It is true there has not been the wild speculation in mining shares here that there has been in the north, but Hongkong Chinese have not altogether escaped, and the "several millions of taels" said to have been dissipated include a proportion from this side. The explanation of the difference between the conditions of the two places seems to be that the fact of Hongkong being a British colony imparts a degree of stability to its trade and the value of its property which is wanting at Shanghai. Although that settlement is under the Government of a foreign municipality and the Consuls, it is de facto Chinese soil; its relations with the Chinese empire are those of a member of the body rather than those of a neighbour; and as such member it is more violently affected street.

Washington, 17th February.
he following interview has been had with	1

"Considerable misinformation," said Watter son, "seems to exist as to the character of legislation which will be asked of Congress. It can certainly not be described as an act entitled an	• act for the relief of the Associated Press. All	, honest news associations are interested in its

in news from piratical concurrent publication."
"And how can this be done?"
"By a clause in the copyright laws making	- collected news, the product of skilled labour and outlay, exclusive to those who pay for it for twenty-four hours."	. 3
"Do you mean the news exclusively of the	1
Associated Press?"	-
"I mean all news and the news of every description and every association, as matters of news are not recognized a property at all Ti Everything about a newspaper office, from the perfecting press to the newsman's pastepot is property, and he who steals it falls within the Sa reach and compas of the law, but that which constitutes 'real value' of a newspaper property, its news franchise, costing vast sums of money and years of special enterprise, training and labour, has no legal status whatever. It is practically outlawed, and any body can steal it with impunity. The proposed measure protects it from pirated use and concurrent publication for twenty-four hours. It creates indeed now property, that is, property in news. None can oppose it, except those who want to rob the others of their labour and money."

"How will it act on the custom of copying from one paper by another paper?" " It will not affect that in the least. The twenty-four hours' limitation gives all the latitude needful to bonost and legitimate transcriptions from one into another. The country press is in no wise touched and I can see no other interest on its part than to approve a measure calculated to elevate and dignify the profession of journalism by giving certain legal validity and responsibility to the collection and distribution of news."

"What are the prospects of the passing of such a bill?" "I've consulted the best authorities during my sojourn in Washington, and there is a general agreement that there is no constitutional objection. I have also seen and talked with a number of members of both Houses. I have been surprised to find some hazy prejudice against the Associated Press, the offspring of misadvisement in the main, and some con fusion as to the relation of the Associated Press and the Western Union Telegraph Company. There are, of course, no relations except those of oustomer and common carriers. Barring these immaterial objections, which a discussion will clear up, there is an interesting and friendly feeling in Congress. The question is a novel one and embraces the whole principle of modern journalism. The railroads and telegraph which have within the last half-century wrought such changes throughout the world have completely revolutionized the newspaper. That which we call news is a modern invention as much as gut-tapercha or reaping machines. It demands the very best and resest of skilled labour.

It is an intellectual and material product. Why has it not the same legal right to recognition and protection as other classes of proporty? Let us take an example. Suppose a newspaper published in the city of New York and sold for three cents, obtains at great cost and pains a column or five columns of interesting and important matter. Should a newspaper issued right alongside, and sold at one cent, be allowed to get an early copy and issue concurrently the very same matter without paying a nickel for it? There is no present law to forbid this. Take another instance. Difference in points relatively east and west in our vast country enables the publisher who chooses to make use of the enterprise of others. Should the thief at a distant point be enabled, by the use of the telegraph, to steal the property of those who have gone to great care and cost to obtain it? Under existing laws I can make a compilation of telegraph news matter, and issuing this in book form, copyright it, but if I write and wire the. Courier Journal a page of valuable matter, any body who sees fit to steal and publish it may do so for the cost of type setting "How do you propose to define or describe the news to be copyrighted?" "I should include all original, special and general matter, exceeding one hundred words, sent by post or wire, embracing original communica-Such an act cannot operate in favour of one paper and against another, or one news association over another. It is simply a bar to regues and fixes the same penalty upon stealing news, which the law visits on stealing other forms of property. "How can any honest journalist object to that?"

"Can you formulate such a measure so that it will stand Congressional tests ?" I think I have done so. I have drafted a hill and prepared an argument to go with it which. though by no means perfect. I believe will give practical application and bearing to the question. You will understand that I've no personal interest at stake. These Grand OLD SCOTCH WHISKIES are shipped only by Richard Mathews & COMPANY of London and Inverness, who are sole possessors of the Brand "CARLTON. They are distilled from the finest Highland Malt only, are in every respect equal to the best Cognae Brandy, and guaranted to be entirely free from Fusil Oil or other noxious

The following Letter has been received from the Secretary of the "CARITON" CLUB. CARLTON CLUB, Dec. 20, 1875. Messrs. R. MATHEWS & Co. GENTLEMEN.—In reply to your inquiry as to whether the Whiskey you are supplying to this Club is approved by the Members, the best answer I can give is that the consumption of this Whiskey in the Club has GREATLY INCREASED since it has been supplied by There can be no doubt whatever about the Whiskey being MOST EXCEL LENT. It is Old and Soft, and I may safely say that it is much approved by the Members. Yours obediently. W. GRIFFIN SUTTON.

Secretary. CAUTION: It has come to the knowledge of the Shippers of the "CARLTON" WHISKIES, that the empty Bottles have been dishonestly refilled of body, thereby effecting a vast scenomy of with the poisonous trash very often sold in space, achieving a clearness not previously China under the name of Whiskey, this is therefore to caution consumers to CARHFULLY and vacant spaces which have heretofore charac-EXAMINE the CORKS and CAPSULES to see they have not been tumpered with; also that the Corks, Capsules, and Labels are branded with their Trade Mark.

TINGLISH AND CHINESE DICTIONARY. WITH THE PUNTI AND MANDARIN PRONUNCIATION. An Anglo-Chinese Dictionary, published at the Daily Press Office, Hongkong. For comprehensiveness and practical service his Work stands unrivalled. All the new words which the Chinese have of late years been compelled to coin to express the numerous obects in machinery, photography, telegraphy. and in science generally, which the rapid advance of foreign relations has imposed upon them, are here given in extenso. Each and every word is fully illustrated and explained, forming exercises for students of a most instructive nature. Both the Court and Punti pronunciations are given, the accents being carefully marked on the bes principle hitherto attained. The typography displays the success of an attempt to make the Chinese and English type correspond in the size attained, and dispensing with those vast margins terized Chinese publications. following facts are submitted for consideration:-Chalmers' Vocabulary contains about 16,000

To illustrate the wast scope of the work, the Chinese characters, and Medburst's English and Chinese Dictionary about 100,000, whilst this work contains more than 50,000 English words, and upwards of 600,000 Chinese characters. Again, despite all the grammars and other elementary works as yet published; the student of this difficult language absolutely requires examples to display the various applications and equivalents of different words which have one general meaning. Of these examples this work contains more than five times as many as any other Dictionary hitherto pub-

For practical purposes the arrangement of the work is so complete, that a reference to its pages enables a person who understands English G to communicate effectively with natives who Enton, Master, will lead here for the above Port understand nothing but Chinese. In this respect and will have quick despatch. Europeans residing in China, and to the natives themselves it explains subjects fully with which very few indeed of them are perfectly acquainted To parties resident in England and interested in China it cannot but be invaluable occasion-
